TEAS AND INFUSIONS BY BETJEMAN & BARTON

For over a century, Betjeman & Barton has been selecting and blending exceptional teas, combining tradition and creativity.

WHITE TEA

Pai Mu Tan – China

This white tea is grown in Fujian Province. It is harvested by hand, and only the bud and two young shoots are picked. This is the spring harvest, which produces a very mild cup with notes of cocoa.

GREEN TEA

Sencha – Japan

This green tea is a broad-leaf tea rich in vitamin C. It has a subtle, fresh aroma and produces a clear infusion. It is best enjoyed without milk and is ideal with savory meals. Start your day off right.

Jasmine – China

This Chinese jasmine green tea is one of the most famous legacies of ancient China. Before Western flavored teas were invented, China had already experimented with blending tea and fragrances. Jasmine tea is a great classic.

Mint – Morocco

On the palate, the attack is lively and crystalline, dominated by Nanah mint, which envelops the palate with a full, rounded freshness. Gradually, the green tea asserts itself, offering a supple and slightly full-bodied texture that prolongs the sensation of freshness. The finish is long and delicate, leaving a subtle and thirst-quenching mentholated veil, like a lingering breath of fresh air. This dialogue between the gentle warmth of mint and the liveliness of tea creates a sensation of aromatic purity that is both energizing and soothing.

BLACK TEA

Earl Grey – China

Its amber liqueur is a beautiful golden brown. It reveals a perfectly balanced harmony between the lively citrus notes of bergamot—fresh, vibrant, almost zesty—and the velvety roundness of black tea, with hints of light wood and warm bread. On the palate, the texture is silky, enveloping, and caressing, revealing subtle floral notes.

Darjeeling Testa Valley – India

Characterized by a more pronounced structure, offering a bold attack and beautiful amplitude on the palate. Despite this power, the tea retains a real elegance, with warm notes evoking ripe fruit, a hint of muscat, and a slight roundness on the finish.

ROOIBOS (caffeine-free)

Jardin Rouge

It is a dried, unfermented infusion with a pale green color and a less sweet taste. This highly fragrant blend contains sunflower blossoms, delicately enhanced by the scent of rose, strawberry, vanilla, and grapefruit.

HERBAL INFUSIONS (caffeine-free)

Verbena

Renowned for its calming and soothing properties, verbena tea is first and foremost a herbal tea with sweet and comforting notes, much to the delight of tea lovers young and old. It is also characterized by a fresh and slightly lemony aroma.

Linden tree

Characterized by a fragrance that is both vegetal and honeyed, each cup of this herbal tea, renowned for its relaxing and soothing properties, promises a wonderfully smooth taste experience.

Lemongrass

Lemongrass is a plant cultivated for its leaves and stems, offering sweet cups with a pleasant lemon scent. Appreciated for its sweetness, our herbal tea breaks free from the sometimes astringent notes of lemon drinks and is accompanied by a slight taste of ginger.
